BIG WHALE WASHED ASHORE BY STORM

Galveston, Aug. 23.—The body of a forty-five foot whale, probably crippled by the hurricane which crossed the gulf last week, was discovered last night by a party of negro fishermen. The big fish was lying dead on the rocks of the south jetty. The negroes got a cable about him and successfully towed him to the dock at pier 16, where he was placed on a barge, covered with an awning and placed on exhibition at "two-bits a throw."

It is one of the few instances of whales being found in these waters.

FUNERAL HEARSE BIRTHPLACE OF BOUNCING BOY

ARRIVES IN SAME MANNER THAT HE WILL DEPART; MOTHER GETS ON NICELY

Chicago, Aug. 23.—They are few who both arrive and depart in hearses. Usually only one ride—the one-way journey, so to speak, is allotted to us in the casket bus that plies between here and Charon's ferry. How over—

Mr. Rodenburg, a chauffeur, employed by Horthal & Co. casket manufacturers, was spinning along on a hearse that contained a casket for a mother who had died out in West Twelfth street.

Long for a Swim.
As he hurried along he mopped his brow and wondered why people can't die out in the middle of the lake so he could swim out and deliver the coffin. He drove alongside a street car and was hailed by the conductor. "There's a sick woman in the car," said the conductor. "I wish you'd take her to a hospital."

"Right!" said Otto, and he pulled up.
In Her Way to Hospital.
Mrs. Mildred Volensky of 1209 N. Irving avenue was ill. She had hoped to reach a hospital, but she had miscalculated. The street car stopped and a policeman helped to place Mrs. Volensky inside the hearse and alongside the casket for the late party of Twelfth street. Otto hit her up for the Michael Reese hospital. But he was too late.

O, no, Mrs. Volensky didn't die. She is doing right well. And so is her son, who is the only infant in history to arrive in a hearse.

HIS BACKACHE GONE
Just how dangerous a backache or muscles, aching joints or rheumatic pains may be is sometimes realized only when life insurance is refused on account of kidney trouble. Joseph G. Wolf of Green Bay, Wis., writes: "Foley Kidney Pills relieved me of a severe backache that had bothered me for several months. Now I feel like a new man and can sleep peacefully at night. Sold everywhere."

MADE EXTRACTS FOR OKLAHOMA BOOZE PEDDLERS

would not know they were being followed secret service men were called from Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati and other cities, and they followed every move of the suspected men. They were with them when they paid for the presses, plates, paper and etching material, and rented the old hotel building in Grant City.

They said they watched Monteforti, a skilled photographer and etcher, work on the plates, and saw other men prepare the paper by pasting two thin sheets together, between which silk threads and hair had been scattered, to imitate currency paper.

It was said the printing of the counterfeit bills was about to begin when Chief Flynn and his men arrived in automobiles and made the raid. Their prisoners included Monteforti.

The plan was under development for more than a year, and several men had been devoting their time exclusively to that work. Elaborate was the engraving and printing scheme the project of floating the counterfeit bills, Indian $5 and Buffalo $10, was more ingenious.

The leaders, it is said, had arranged for a practical underwriting of their supply by a group of twenty middlemen, who were to peddle them out at 45 cents on the dollar to the men who would pass them to the public.

At least fifty negatives of United States bills, ranging from $1 to $10, were found. Some had been transferred to gelatin, three wax plates, and from that copper plates were being made for printing the notes. Monteforti was found with etching tools working on a $5 copper plate.

W. T. WALKER WRITES LETTER TO GOVERNOR ON BALLOT SHORTAGE

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 23, 1916.
To His Excellency, Hon. R. L. Williams, Governor of the State of Oklahoma.

Sir:
I was a candidate for nomination on the Republican ticket before the primaries held August 1st 1916, for congressman from the 5th congressional district of Oklahoma. There was a shortage of Republican state ballots in Logan county, a county that has in the past and will this year, give as large a majority for the Republican candidates as all the balance of the six counties combined and it is my home county.

This ballot shortage, whether accidental or felonious, defeated me for the nomination, but that is a minor consideration as compared with the disfranchisement of hundreds of American citizens as in this case, and it is for this reason that I am writing you this open letter.

Upon investigation I find that one, T. F. McKennon is the secretary of this, the Logan county election board and had to do with the shortage of ballots in this county. I find that he has charge of, and is the custodian of the ballots, boxes, keys thereto and of the records of the said county election board.

As stated before, this shortage, whether accidental or felonious, defeated me for the nomination and disfranchised a large number of voters of Logan county. As to which of the above named causes made the shortage possible I am at this time unable to determine, as all the secrets of his office are not accessible and his nocturnal habits are to some extent unknown to me. It can be proven, however, that as custodian of the ballots, boxes, and keys thereof, which constitute the election returns as made up by the precinct election boards, that he has removed the ballots from the boxes and taken them himself, or entrusted them to others, interested in election cases, that the same have been exhibited to others for inspection at their offices far removed from the offices of the county election board, and this, too, under cover of night.

It can also be proven that in another case ballots have, by him been abstracted from the boxes, as returned by the precinct election officials and the same have been changed, removing state ballots off the string of state ballots and putting them on the string of county ballots and vice versa, the seals thereof apparently never having been broken, this for the express purpose of impeaching the testimony of the honest precinct election officials who had testified to the particular manner in which the ballots from that precinct had been strung, sealed and sent to the county election board.

Then again, it can also be proven that on another occasion, ballots stamped in the circle at the head of the ticket by the voter, so as to vote a straight ticket were re-stamped while in the custody of the said Secretary T. F. McKennon, for some one candidate of the opposite political party in order that the candidate so stamped might be declared elected, contrary to the expressed intent and act of the voter.

The foregoing being true, the implication is that the ballot shortage in this county was with felonious intent.

Now, Governor, these are very serious charges, but I am able and willing to furnish unimpeachable testimony to prove the truth of my assertions. This being true, I most respectfully request that you remove the said T. F. McKennon from office prior to the coming election, and that you instruct the proper officials to bring such action as under the law is necessary to the end that the disfranchisement of voters cease; that election returns be held inviolate, and that ballot box stuffing, ballot re-stamping and their resultant effect be thus discontinued in Logan county, Oklahoma.

Very respectfully,
W. T. WALKER.

STATE BANKERS PULLING FOR FARM LOAN BANK

BUSINESS MEN JOIN IN PROTEST AGAINST JOINING TEXAS DISTRICT

Oklahoma City, Aug. 23.—Oklahoma bankers and business men, like the business men of other states, desire to secure all they can of benefits passed around by the federal government. To this end they are trying to figure out a plan, under which Oklahoma City would be the logical and certain central city and head quarters for one of the Federal Farm Loan banks that are to be established to the number of twelve.

The recent visit to this city of a delegation of Fort Worth chamber of commerce men with a view of forming an alliance whereby Oklahoma and Texas, would stand together for a district to include both states drew the expression from Oklahoma City that such a district could not be of benefit to Oklahoma nor yield to Oklahoma any chance for the bank. These men are quite sure that any district which contains all of Texas will have its bank in one of the Texas cities.

A district that would include Arkansas, Oklahoma and Kansas might offer some encouragement to Oklahoma City, although that sort of district would be well supplied with local centers and the rivalry for the bank will be great. Oklahomans are concerned that there will be a land bank in Texas and that Memphis will make a mighty struggle for one. Kansas City is a central sort of place and may be expected to reach out and get one of the banks is possible.

But the Oklahoma City effort for a bank is going to be vigorous and persistent. Oklahoma City has the backing of the entire state in this ambition and it is believed by many business men here that the argument that is being arranged will be of considerable force in placing the claims of the city and state in a convincing manner before the organization.
